CEDARVILLE COLLEGE

ALUMNI NEWS

WELCOME: DR. WILLIAM T. HOPEWELL

The newest member of the Cedarville College Alumni Association is Dr. William T. Hopewell, newly-appointed executive secretary of the Association of Baptists for World Evangelism. Dr. Hopewell received his honorary doctor of divinity degree at commencement June 8th and is the seventh honorary alumnus to be so recognized by the college since 1953.

The others are: Dr. George S. Milner (1961); Dr. Hall Dautel (1963); Dr. J. Irving Reese (1963); Dr. Kenneth W. Masteller (1964); Dr. Ruth Hege (1965); and Dr. Roy G. Hamman (1966).

Dr. Hopewell was accorded honor by the Board of Trustees of Cedarville College for notable achievement in the varied fields of seminary teaching, chaplaincy, authorship, and missionary service.

ALUMNI PASTORS

Plan now to attend the Pastors' Conference September 9-12, 1968 on campus. The conference is offered entirely free to interested pastors. Send your name and address at once to : Dr. James T. Jeremiah, Cedarville College, Cedarville, Ohio 45314. Deadline for reservations is September 3, 1968.

The special speaker will be Dr. Kenneth W. Masteller, pastor of the Haddon Heights (New Jersey) Baptist Church. His topics will concern the pulpit ministry, congregation, youth, evangelism, and missionary endeavor.

Workshops about church extension (Rev. W. Thomas Younger), contemporary theology (Dr. George L. Lawlor), communications (Dr. John W. Reed), and the tongues movement (Dr. Robert Gromacki) will be offered.

SECONDARY CERTIFICATION

Cedarville College as of June 10, 1968 is qualified to prepare high school teachers as well as elementary ones. This is a great victory from God for alma mater and is also another stride toward regional accreditation.

Both teacher preparation programs will be available this fall entirely on the Cedarville College campus. So pass the word along to prospective Christian college students among your friends, relatives, church, school, community, etc.

Cedarville College is rejoicing in the tremendous upsurge in alumni financial support over the last two years. AAG I netted $2728.18 over a four-month period. The stress of each annual drive is from November-February. The summer backlog or interim giving by alumni counts toward the following AAG drive.

AAG II covered the giving from March, 1967 through March, 1968. The grand total was $7373.93 for which God is to be praised and alumni of Cedarville College are to be commended.

The best news is that AAG III concentration from November, 1968-February, 1969 already has a backlog of accumulated contributions amounting to $6050.54 as of July 10, 1968. Class agents are responsible for much of this success. Alumni support is especially vital to Cedarville College with its convictions.

ALUMNI QUESTIONNAIRE

The cooperation of all alumni is solicited by Dr. Clifford W. Johnson, academic dean, and by the alumni director in the conscientious answering of a questionnaire soon to be released. The questionnaire is designed in two parts to test the degree of fulfillment of the purposes of Cedarville College in the lives of its former students.

A high percentage of returns is necessary to make whatever trend may be indicated a valid one. This questionnaire survey is part of the ongoing program of self-evaluation by the college as it moves in the direction of regional accreditation.

ALUMNI AWARDS

Homecoming 1968 will mark the first distribution of alumni awards sponsored by the Cedarville College Alumni Association. Included in the banquet presentations will be the Class Agent of the Year Award and the Annual Alumni Giving Class Award.

Of special significance are the Honorary Alumni Award and the Alumni of the Year Award. Potential recipients of the latter award are being studied carefully by the Executive Committee. Nominations were received at the unofficial association business meeting in June.

A special mailing to voting members containing the names, photographs, and resumes of three qualified individuals for the Honorary Alumni Award will be distributed in August. The three persons will be placed on the ballot from the nominations received at the June business meeting.

The association constitution should be consulted for vindication of award procedure. The deadline for the reception of ballots will be announced.

WELCOME: CLASS OF 1968

The Class of 1968 is welcome into the Cedarville College Alumni Association. Their class agent is Mr. Ken Nichols of Springfield, Ohio. He is youth director at the Blessed Hope Baptist Church in Springfield.

This class with its 157 members pushes the number of Cedarville College graduates since 1953 into the 800's and the total membership in the alumni association well over 1000.
